THE STOLEN PARTY NOTES

Marie Descrimps and I were ensconced his of a closet communicating with the Harvey's up-stairs sitting room. Nabody spectrd there till about five souther a and looking thrinely—though nuch agita-ted I could see through all her assumed on a small soud so directly in front of the tiny window: thritigh which we cautiously peered. "Ma wonder," I mentally ex-claimed, "that Capel has been beguited of all sense or discretion!"

all sense or discretion!"
In reply to Marie Deschemps' look of featons, yet admiring surprise; I whispered, pointing to the neat but poor furniture, "Capel expects, you know, soon to have sin hundred a year," ".i.h," she rejoined, in the same tone, "and in this country gold is God!"
"And all the maintenance."

"And all the Saints in yours, I believe but hark; there is a knock at the door; it is he, no doubt."

Comparatively dark as the closet was, I could see the r-d, swarthy color come and go on the young woman's cheeks and fore-bead; and I saided I could hear the vioheat and hurried beating of her heart. Pre-eently Mr. Capel, entered the apartment his features were flushed as with lever, and his whole manner exhibited une ner llable agitation. His first words were unintelligible, albeit their purpose might be guess ed. Miss Hervey, though much disturbed also, managed to say, after a few moments awkward silence, and with a half-induced yet fascinating smite, taking up, as she spoke, a letter which lay upon the table, "Upon my word, Mr. Capel, this abrup proposal of yours appears to me, under the

"Upon my word, proposal of yours appears to me, under the circumstances, to be singularly ill-timed and premature, besides"—
The lady's discomposure had, it struck me, dissipated a half-formed suspicion in Capel's mind that some trap or mystilication was preparing for him, and throwing himself at the feet of Canstance, he gave way to a torrent of fervent, headlong pro-testation, which there could be no question was the utterance of genuine passion. Mu-rie Deschamps felt this, and, but that I foreibly held har back, she would have foreign near nor pack, she would nave burst it to the room at once; as it was, she presend her aims across her tosom with her atmost force, as if to compress, keep down, the wild rage by which she was, I down, the wild tage by which she was, I caw, shaken and convulsed. Miss Herrey appeared affected by Capel's vehemence, and she insisted that he should rise and seat himself. He did so, and after a min-ute or two of silence, Canstance again resolutely addressed herself to the task she had determined to perform;

"But the lady, Mr. Capel whom we say "But the lady, Mr. Capel whom we saw you conversing with not long since in the Park; one Marie—Marie, something!"—"The name of such a person as Marie Deschamps should not sainly Miss Hervey's lips, even in Jest;—ha!"

Regulating Apparatus.

A S manufacture: by the Rhode Island of the State Hoating Company, Powtucker, R.T.

This method of warming both public and private buildings, as has been proved by actual experience for the last four years, is the cheapest, safeat, most pleasant and healthful of any other known method. It leaves the room heated in this manner entirely free from the gasses, dust, snoke, Ne., which are continually arising from stores and hut air furnaces. The heat produced is sufficient to warm a cold building in the coldest of weather, and is also mild, pleasant and agreeable, having the softness of summer air; and to the consumptive and invalidit is invaluable.

This apparatus can be put into health.

Richmand, McHenry Co., til., Dec. 8, 1818.
Dr. S. T. W. Sanyindo-Dear Sir :— I am here on my anission ground, and feel systelf under greater ligition in your Medicine for bringing me here, bitted for active service. I have used it myself and given it to my family, and hove found it, to be all that is recommended to he—a specific for Head Ache, and Hyspeptia, and Janualice. I have used it friely, and used it all; but an afraid if I fare as others do, is hall be obliged to test its efficacy in Fever and Agne. I make looked in several Apothecary Shops here, and do not fluid it; it should be here.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
